Subject: Concentration Declaration Process is Now Open!

Dear Ed.M. Student,

We are sending this email on behalf of Abbie Bloom, Associate Director of Residential Master's Education:

Welcome to August! You made it! We are thrilled that you are part of the HGSE community. As you look forward to Advising and Registration Week at the end of August and start to think about your fall plans, I am writing to share information about the Concentration declaration process. Many of you expressed an interest in a Concentration on your HGSE admissions application. Please note that any interest expressed at that time was non-binding.

In order to officially pursue a Concentration, you must declare your intention to do so via my.harvard by Friday, September 1 at 5pm ET. Please click here for instructions to complete the process in My.Harvard. Declaring a Concentration will signal to the Concentration faculty that you plan to join their cohort this fall.

Declaring a Concentration is optional. If you would like to learn more about the Concentrations, each one will hold an information session later this month. Please visit this page for a schedule of information sessions and more details about each concentration, including an overview, course requirements, and FAQs.

If you have questions about specific concentrations, please contact the associated Concentration Coordinator. Questions about the declaration process can be directed to registrar@gse.harvard.edu.

Best,

Abbie Bloom
Associate Director of Residential Master's Education
